DR. W.R. NEWTON DIES SATURDAY

Newton's Life is Romantic Story of Arkansas Farm Boy Who Made Success

From a poor farm boy in the home of a Confederate Soldier deep in the green hills of the Arkansas Ozark country, to school in the village and later a teacher, then to medical college and a country doctor, and up the lader of success to a great Surgeon whose work brought him America's highest recognition, in brief tells the story of 64 busy years lived by Dr. William R. Newton, who died in the Cameron Hospital shortly before noon Saturday, May 21, 1938.

An honor of which his friends were proud and he deeply appreciated was his election to the Senate of Texas in November 1936, following his nomination in the Democratic Primary in July of that year. After the fashion of politics, men called him Senator. He never liked it. He wanted to be called a Doctor.

Commenting one day he said: "I became a State Senator in a few days. It took me many arduous years to become a Doctor." A man, proud of his profession, never forgot the high standards it builds about those who follow the way of sacrifice.

Thousands of men less colorful, will live in story, published and yet to be written. The glory of greatness too often is hidden where the big world does not look. His life story breathes the spirit of the typical American whose rugged indiviualism tamed and developed the continent. From the restless days of his youth in the hill country of Arkansas to the white light of Senatorial toga, all the way, he left the impress of energy, so many things done in the completeness of the Newton way, that it is both amazing and inspiring

Answers The Last Roll Call

DR. WILLIAM R. NEWTON

Widely known surgeon and member of the Texas Senate from the 13th District, Dr. Newton, died in the Cameron Hospital shortly before noon on Saturday, May 21, 1938. This engraving is from a photo made in 1924 when Dr. Newton was in Chicago. Shortly thereafter he became a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO SURGEON AND SENATOR

Dr. William R. Newton, 64, widely known surgeon and a member of the Texas State Senate from the 13th District died shortly before noon on Saturday, May 21, 1938, from a heart attack suffered on Friday night at his home.

Shortly after the attack he was taken to the Cameron Hospital. Early Saturday all physicians and surgeons in the city held a consultation. At first it was believed the late Senator had suffered an intestinal perforation and when it became apparent that his condition was desperate an operation was attempted. Dr. Eduard Rischar, assisted by other doctors began the operation which was interrupted when it became apparent the patient would not survive. Restoratives were given and he was taken from the operating room and placed in bed.

The operation was attempted only because it could have relieved the heart condition and had nothing to do with his death. A blood clot in a heart artery caused Dr. Newton's death and physicians said that no chance was held by the Doctor for recovery from the attack.

Shortly before he died Dr. Newton was conscious and spoke to friends. He knew the end was at hand and met it calmy as Physician friends and nurses stood by. Bill Richter, a close friend, held the Doctor's hand as death came.

News that Dr. Newton had died spread rapidly. The shock of it was numbing. People generally could not realize that so useful a man and so

"Our Town" by J. B. WHITE

Sorrow makes life less buoyant and often casts a long shadow. Words that once were both mellow and ready, seem harsh today, stricken by utter futility they falter miserably at what the heart would say. Music of the early morning seems the dirge of an old day and the white light of high noon is but the faint flare of sunset along a trail that is dim and lonely. I have lost a great and good friend, so has every other man in the world. When Dr. Newton died on Saturday the hearts of many were impoverished. I think Edwin Markham, on one occasion expressed it well when he said: "When he died it was like a giant tree falling, and looking up again you saw it had left a lonesome place against the sky."

There is no Balm for a Sorrow so heavy. Mortal awakenings are in themselves but the legacy of pain. The poignant certainty of loss we feel deeply, though understanding escapes us. Only the Higher Wisdom knows the day span of a wild white rose.

I have a feeling that the matrix from which such men spring is no more. His place in the world about him was large. Those who knew him best were jealous of the claims of his profession. It was not in the altitudes to which successful men rise that I can now remember him, but vivid as life itself comes the mighty troop of days when freed of the world's exacting toil we went together through woodlands and along where the waters ran deep; where flowers grew rich in color and nature from the moist earth yileds up her treasures. If his hands touched a blossom it became more beautiful; birds seemed to sing with greater melody in the presence of a friendly soul like his; things he planted grew and he planted much. He was a part of them. In that field of human hearts where the philosophy of the Higher Wisdom provides the fallow ground, he was a sower of seed. The harvest will be rich.

What are the ages to which he now belongs but the leaves of a book to be read in the light of memories as long as human hearts throb with the understanding that was his? Truly he lived in a big house by the side of the road. Rugged as the Ozarks from whence he came to the stage of life, he marched the great way. Life's purposes are lost only when they are made the instruments of selfishness. He had the courage to live and to give. The years will come and go and the full melody of lark song will swell the chorus of sylvan music when spring comes each season and life will be as he loved it, there with him.

Oil Weekly Concedes Major Strike in Burleson County Well

San Antonio—The first major Edwards lime strike in the Balconies Fault zone in 9 years resulted May 17 when Red Bank Oil Company of Houston completed H. H. Coffield No. 1 on the Chriesman prospect in Burlington county for 19 barrels of 34.5 gravity crude per hour through 3-8 inch choke. The well showed a casing pressure of 780 pounds and a tubing pressure of 160 pounds, which dropped to 60 pounds. It went dead and tubing was pulled for installation of perforated nipple or flow valves, re-completion being expected over the week end.

The test, located 825 feet from the south line and 2145 feet from the east line of the 500 acre tract in the E Sante survey, is 13 miles east of Rockdale and 6 1-2 miles west of Chriesman. It is 550 feet north and 1100 west of Gramm 1, which previously showed oil in the limestone, but was abandoned when completion as a commercial producer could not be effected.

Coffield 1 has an elevation of 582 feet. It topped the markers as follows: Austin chalk, 5230 feet; base chalk, 5614 feet; Buda limestone, 5763 feet; Del Rio clay, 5832 feet;

Ernest Thompson Speaks at Sharp

Sharp, May 24.—With a slashing speech that drew frequent shouts of, "Pour it on, Red," from his listeners, Ernest Thompson, candidate for governor, lashed at large corporations and foreign owned chain stores Tuesday night.

Thompson charged that the corporations and chains sought to "exploit" Texas people.

The rally here, which drew about 1500 people from Milam and surrounding counties, Sharp had for the first time in many years a candidate for governor speak in it.

The red headed, fighting candidate was introduced by Jim Baskin, large Milam county farmer and a war time buddy of Thompson, then the youngest lieutenant colonel in the A. E. F.

Baskin paid tribute to Thompson's record in the war, as mayor of Amarillo and as railroad commissioner.

"In the army," he said, "we loved him as our officer. We knew him in those days by the name of Booger Red."

Also on the program was a speech by E. A. Camp of Rockdale.

"I've looked over who's who in this race for governor very carefully," he said. "And I know Ernest Thompson to be an outstanding man, and I firmly believe that he is going to be the next governor of Texas."

J. B. White, editor of the Cameron Herald, also paid tribute to Thompson's service and pointed out that in supporting him for governor, the varying political groups of the county had banded together.

"I've looked all the candidates over," he declared. "I haven't found another man in the race with the record, the character or the equipment for the office that Ernest Thompson has."

Hitting hard at the big companies in his speech, Thompson declared:

"I prefer to fight on the side of the little man. I know how ruthless these big companies can and will be.

"We cannot have prosperity if we

WATCH YOUR WORDS

Words are little things but oh, how big in what they tell! Words according to Mr. Webster, who wrote our definition book are our means of expressing our ideas to others, formed by the combination of alphabetical letters and articulate sounds. They could well be described as a microscope through which other people view us.

Do you size people up, generally speaking, by what they say? I do. Often I have been quite impressed by a person's appearance, only to have my good opinion crushed after having heard him engage in conversation. On the other hand the good use of words has attracted me when otherwise I would have been disinterested.

If we would stop to think how important words are we would not abuse

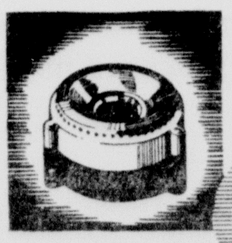
Do you know that the taxes paid by your gas company last year amounted to about 72 cents per meter per month? So summer bills of a dollar or two hardly cover taxes—an operating cost over which we have no control.

Fresh Vegetables TASTE BETTER
...LOOK BETTER WHEN COOKED WITH GAS

FOR rounding out a healthful, well balanced meal there is nothing like the first tender vegetables of early summer. How you cook them is all-important if their healthful vitamins and minerals, their natural flavor and color are to be retained. A 1938 gas range excels in boiling vegetables as they should be—with controlled heat, little water and in covered utensil.

Time, gas and food values are saved with the improved gas simmer burners. They provide the most flexible and accurately controlled cooking heat yet devised in a cooking appliance. At the click of a valve they give you the exact shading of heat required for any cooking job. Because of this exact temperature control, kitchen heat and humidity are held to minimum. See these new gas ranges and learn all about their many improvements that make cooking surer, cooler and easier.



Only the improved gas simmer burners on 1938 gas ranges give an accurately controlled boiling heat at the "click" of a valve. They save gas... keep kitchen cooler.

NEWTON

great a professional leader, had succumed to illness.

In the late afternoon of Saturday the body lay in state at the funeral home of Leland Green Undertaking Co. As news spread through the county and over the state telegrams began to pour in to the bereaved family. During a two hour period after the body had been placed in a massive casket of gray steel at the funeral home, more than a thousand people treked by to look upon the face of their friend, the Doctor and Senator.

From the funeral home the body was taken to the Newton home. The people, friends and neighbors, torn with grief and bewildered made an imposing spectacle of mass effort to do homage to one they had so greatly revered in life.

The body was held in the home until shortly after noon Sunday when it was taken to the reception room of the Cameron Hospital where it lay in state from that hour until the funeral hour at 4 p. m.

Many hundreds of friends from many Texas counties, including high state officials arrived in increasing numbers to swell the funeral crowds. A motor detail of Texas highway patrolmen under Captains M. L. Berry and F. D. Albright arrived shortly before noon.

In the Hospital room where the body lay two patrolmen stood by the casket. Banked about the room and walls were flowers in such profusion that late arriving floral tributes were placed in special trucks pressed into service and taken to the First Baptist church. In all eight motor trucks were required to handle the great display of flowers. From the home three loads were taken direct to the hospital after the body had been removed shortly after noon.

By special request of Dr. Eduard Rischar who was associated with Dr. Newton, the Teaching Staff and Nurses, the body was taken to the Hospital. Shortly before 4 p. m. the procession moved out along the street flanked with people to the First Baptist church.

Standing at attention were the State Police and between the row of officers marched Governor James V. Allred and Judge Graham Gillis. They were followed by Rev. Vernon G. Miles, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. O. C. Acrey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the immediate family.

On the platform sat the Governor who overcome with grief, declined to speak. Judge Graham Gillis delivered an oration, touching and complete in its tribute to Dr. Newton. Outside the church crowds heard the speeches over amplifiers arranged through a broadcast.

In the vast crowd of more than 5000 people were friends from every walk of life. High state officials and prominent men and women from all over Texas; friends of a life time; farmers, all combining in a common tribute.

The crowd was so dense automobiles were restricted largely from entering the cemetery. At the grave Masons from San Andres Lodge took charge and gave the Senator a Masonic funeral.

Physicians of Milam county were named as special honorary pallbearers as were members of the State Senate and others high in state official life. The honorary list included his friends in all walks of life.

More than 3 hours were required to conduct the services, due to the great number of flowers handled by Glass the Florist and the crowds. It was the largest funeral ever held in this section of Texas.

Active pall bearers were from the Masonic Lodge as follows: H. H. Stedman, Niley Smith, Dr. A. S. Epperson, Dr. T. E. Crump, F. G. Blake, E. O. Schiller, J. M. Fuller and Guy T. Newton.

THOMPSON

have continued concentration of the wealth into the hands of a few."

"Amen, Red," came a voice from the crowd as Thompson dug into the chain stores.

"The spread of these chain stores with absentee ownership and roving managers," Thompson declared, "is pushing out the independent merchants who have made Texas great.

"We've got to keep things in Texas so that a boy or a girl will have the oportunity to start from scratch and rise to success in their chosen field.

"The average man in Texas wants only a fair deal and a chance to succeed. These foreign owned chains contribute little or nothing to the upbuilding of the community."

Thompson drew another round of applause as he hit sharply at the major oil companies.

He charged that they try time and again to get the railroad commission to pass special rules or orders for their benefits.

"We have consistently refused to let the big companies freeze out the little man. I believe that we ought to look out for the little fellow. The big ones can take care of themselves" he said.

"The proof that the big oil companies don't run Texas; that we run them and make the big ones share alike with the small ones, is the fact that there are 1141 more successful independents in the oil business today than there were two years ago.

"And there isn't a single new big one."

Proration of the oil business, as administered by the railroad commission, Thompson said, has kept the little man from being frozen out by the major companies.

Pledging that as governor it would be his aim to give protection to the small man and to keep freedom of opportunity open in Texas, the forceful candidate drew more "Pour it on," shouts as he declared:

"We have the wealth, the talent and the brains in this state to run it for the good and glory of Texas people. All we've got to do is to determine that Texas no longer shall be called New York's most valuable foreign possession.

Thompson stressed strongly in his speech, his program for creation of jobs and more markets for Texas farm and ranch products by fostering new industries and attracting them to the state.

He pointed out that prosperity was brought to the million people employed in the oil industry through the regulatory efforts of the railroad commission.

As a member of the commission for the past six years and as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Thompson has been a key figure in administering oil laws.

"With the same concerted action and a thoughful program there's no reason why we can't do as much for the three millions who live on the farm as we have done for the million who work in oil or allied industries.

"With the program of industrial development that I propose to foster as your governor," he said, "we can find jobs for our unemployed and markets for our farm and ranch products.

"We've been shipping our products off to New York or Chicago or St. Louis to be manufactured and then shipping them back as manufactured articles to buy. The trip doesn't do them any good. When the farm and ranch prosper everybody prospers."

Thompson reviewed his record as mayor of Amarillo, when he cut every utility rate in the town and reduced taxes from $1.35 to $1 per $100 valuation, as he urged that the state take over regulation of all utilities and that the state could meet its obligations and get along without new taxes for the next two years.

The crowd also found to its liking, the dynamic candidate's stand on old age pensions.

"I'm opposed," he said to the cheering throng, "to employment of these so-called experts from foreign states to come down here and tell us what grandma or grandpa needs.

"We've banished the poorhouse from Texas. As your governor I intend to see that picture of heartaches and fears remains turned to the wall forever."

Thompson opposed strongly the cutting of aged people off the old age assistance rolls in cases where their sons or daughters barely make enough to cover the cost of living for themselves and their families.

Family budgets liberal enough to allow a relative of aged people enough for some of the comforts of life, insurance, medical care and attention and enough to provide for their own children "before we cut grandma or grand pa off the old age assistance roll or make them go and live with relatives against their wills," Thompson declared.

been in declining health and spent the major part of that time in bed. On Monday morning the nurse left the room and returned with his breakfast and found him dead. It was said he died from a heart stroke.

A son, Dr. Elbra Monroe, one of the best known physicians in the United States, died several years ago.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of his son with Rev. J. Coy Williams of the First Methodist church officiating. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery. Dr. Monroe had been a member of the Methodist church for many years in Cameron.

Surviving are his son, Frank Monroe, Cameron, five half sisters: Mrs. C. L. Schivers, Misses Geneveve and Daisy Monroe of Waco; Mrs. Maude Randle of Dallas; Mrs. Patton who resides in Alabama; three half brothers, Charles Monroe of Rosebud, Horace Monroe of Grandview; and Collier Monroe of Waco. Two grandchildren, Miss Katherine Monroe and Dana Monroe of Cameron also survive.

in Baylor University at Waco. Among the larger schools in which he taught are at Buckholts and Ad Hall.

By reason of his experience and training Mr. Mayfield believes that he is qualified for the office without the necessity of incurring additional expense to tax payers. The duties of the office, he believes, are no more than would be required of one man and inasmuch as he is qualified to fill the place his friends urge that his election would be a saving to tax payers.

In making his campaign Mr. Mayfield will try to see each voter. He asks for your suport based upon his qualification for the office. He believes that a public office is entitled to the efficiency that is demanded in business and proposes to give the people that kind of service if he is elected.

Having lived his entire life to-date in this county, Mr. Mayfield feels that he needs no introduction to the people. He is making the race solely on his qualifications and pledges the people that in the event of his election he will reward them in service for the confidence they express in him. He asks his friends to lend their support, to become active in his behalf and help him to place his candidacy before all the people.

The many who have pledged their support have his thanks and appreciation. They give him a formidable start in the race.

Oil Well

Georgetown limestone, 5890 feet: Edwards limestone, 6167 feet. Total depth is 6172 1-2 feet with 7 inch casing landed at 6169 feet. The formation was acidized with 500 gallons before completion.

The producer is on the upthrown side of a fault at least 400 feet displacement and is 65 feet higher than an abandoned well 1450 feet to the southwest, which likely is at the water level of the pool. The formation shows an average porosity of about 25 per cent and saturation of 75 to 80 percent. The faulting following a northeast southwest trend, is known to be about 15 miles long. This would indicate a tremedous field of high recovery possibilities.

Superior Oil Company, H. H. Coffield, Humble Oil & Refining Company, Sun Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Red Bank Oil Company, The Texas Company, Shell Petroleum corporation, Gulf Oil Corporation, Tide Water Associated Oil Company and others have holdings along this trend.

The structure was worked by B. F. Robinston, following which three Edwards limestone tests were drilled by the Red Bank Oil Company.

Further south and along the same general trend, Humble Oil & Refining Company is drilling a 7000 foot Edwards limestone prospect south of Paige in Bastrop county. Hillsman 1 is around 6500 feet, but no details are being released.—The Oil Weekly.

Then if our words reveal so much of ourselves to others, they should enables us to check up and find out how we stand from our own viewpoint and thereby help us to choose more thoughtfully and carefully our means of expressing ourselves.

State Flags Flown At Half Mast for Dr. W. R. Newton

Austin, Texas, May 22.—Capitol flags were half masted Saturday in memory of Dr. William R. Newton. His death was the first in nearly five years in the Senate. The last was that of Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, who died September 6, 1933.

A special election will be called in the senatorial district comprising Milam, Falls, Limestone and McLennan counties, to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Newton, which extends through 1940. He had served about half the four year term to which he was elected in 1936. He was chairman of the senate committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, vice chairman of the committee on Public Health and a member of several others, including Finance, Insurance and Rules.

Mrs. Meta McCown has returned from a few days visit to Georgetown where she was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Cooper Sansom. She was accompanied by Mrs. Lee Tag and daughter, Donna Ruth, who are visiting her for a few days from Bay City.

State Police in Tribute to Late Senator Newton

Among the honors arranged to the memory of the late Senator W. R. Newton who died here shortly before noon on Saturday, May 21, 1938, was a special detail of state police from the Department of Public Safety in Austin.

The late Senator was author of the bill to increase and to make effective the highway patrol.

Shortly before the funeral hour on Sunday a detail of Police from the patrol reached the hospital. During the more than three hours in which the body lay in state with thousands entering the flower decked reception room of the hospital, two patrolmen stood on guard and at attention near the body, being relieved at intervals.

The Patrol was in command of Captain M. L. Berry of Amarillo; Captain F. D. Albright from the Austin Headquarters. Patrolmen were Don Lawrence, J. L. Connley, D. R. Enochs, R. E. Reynolds, E. E. Johnston, James Mason.

Local Drum Major Gets Top Rank as Baton Twirler in Abilene Contest

David Wade, drum-major of the Yoe High School band, returned to Cameron Sunday from Abilene, where he entered the baton twirling contests in the National Band Contest, Region 6. David received the highest award, the first division rating, and was one of two twirlers in this territory to make this top rating, the other one being Miss Virginia Shaffner of Temple.

David's success in twirling is especially notable in that he is only 14 years old, a freshman in Yoe High School, having graduated from Ada Henderson grammar school last spring. Also, his experience as a drum-major and a twirler dates from the time he entered high school, as he had no previous experience in baton a few weeks before the beginning of the present school session, he took over the drum-major-ship of the high school band and led that organization through the past football season's activities.

Entering his first twirling contest in the district contest in Mexia on April 1st, David made the first of his three first division ratings there. Then, twirling in the State contest in Waco on April 29th, he again made first division, winning more commendation there than in the previous Mexia contest.

Continuing to improve, David then entered the National Contest, where his third first division rating was made.

This record is remarkable from every standpoint, and should mean a very outstanding series of achievements before David Wade graduates from high school, three years from now.

LaPorte Ordination Ceremonies Sunday For Rev. O'Sullivan

LaPorte—Rev. Joseph Patrick O'Sullivan son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Sullivan of Elton, County Limerick, Ireland, will be ordained to the holy priesthood on Sunday, May 29th, in Kirwin Memorial Chapel of St. Mary's University, La Porte, Texas.

Father Joseph Patrick O'Sullivan was born in Elton County, Limerick and received his primary education there. His high school work was done at Capuchian Franciscan College, Rochestown, County Cork. Father O'Sullivan then attended Mount Melleray Seminary, County Waterford, Ireland for his college and philosophy. He pursued his theological studies at St. Kieran's, County Kilkenny, then emigrated to the United States and completed his studies at St. Mary's University, La Porte, Texas.

At St. Michael's Church, Burlington, Texas where his brother, Rev. T. F. O'Sullivan, is pastor, he will sing his first solemn Mass on Monday, May 30th at 9 a. m. At this Mass the following will assist: Archpriest, Rev. J. T. Moriarty, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Palestine; Deacon, Rev. T. F. O'Sullivan, pastor of St. Michel's Church Burlington; Subdeacon, Rev. M. J. O'Sullivan (another brother,) of St. Joseph's Church Dubuque, Iowa; Master of ceremonies, Rev. J. P. Coll, assistant at Sacred Heart Church, Houston.

Rev. James J. O'Brien, C. S. C., National Chaplain of Reserve Officers Association, who is stationed in Austin, Texas, will deliver the sermon.

Besides his two brothers and one sister, Sister Mary of the Rosary, of the Immaculate Conception Sisters, who is stationed at Maris Stella Convent in Newbrighton, England Father O'Sullivan has nearly thirty relatives in religion, outside his immediate family.

Three Cows Bring John Brinkman Good Monthly Returns

Small producers as well as large have found that cows will pay if proper care is taken to see that they are given the right considerations under which to make their contribution to the family income.

An outstanding example of the small producer is John Brinkman who lives on a 76 acre farm that is owned by the Henderson Estate in the sand country across the river.

Mr. Brinkman started selling milk when the Kraft plant was opened in Cameron. He has 3 cows and is selling 40 pounds of milk each day. He purchased 2 cows from the Kraft Company.

Mr. Brinkman is an old milk producer from Wisconsin and knows how to get high butterfat tests. He said his milk was bringing him $1.26 per hundred and that his test is 5. Each one of his cows netted $120. He has Jersey cows, raises his own feed and sells the calf crop because he does not wish to increase his herd.

Mr. Brinkman has demonstrated that three cows can make a good income to supplement the farm income. From his three cows he got $360 last year, besides the value that has accrued to his land.

Mr. Brinkman estimates that at least $25 per cow in fertilizer is realized for his land each year.

When Mr. Brinkman has peanuts and sweet potato vines to feed his cows he pushes up the butter fat test to 6.

Milam county's rapidly expanding dairy industry includes all classes of producers but none have shown more profits from cows than Mr. Brinkman who believes that the future of the county depends on engaging in pursuits other than cotton raising. Idle acres taken from cotton can be put to good use in producing feed for milk cows.

Walter Anderle is Highest Honor Winner in Jersey Show Saturday

Walter Anderle, diminutive Future Farmer from the C. H. Yoe chapter, won the two highest honors possible in Cameron's second annual dairy day Saturday, when he won first in dairy cattle judging, then followed with the winning of grand champion honors with a cow shown by him. The cow was owned by Roy Law but Walter spent many hours grooming her for show. He clipped her, and brushed her, and washed her. Then he oiled her hair and brushed some more. Later the horns were polished and she was trained to pose as a champion should.

Anderle has made a wonderful record in his Future Farmer work this year. At a recent Future Farmer banquet he was awarded certificates of merit on feeding hogs, judging in state contests and on terrace construction. He was on the milk judging team and on the soil conservation team that judged in area and State contests. He fed out fifty baby chicks without losing a single one, and in his hog feeding he put an average daily gain of over 2 pounds on his pig.

City Commended on Support of Brazos Valley Authority

Support tendered the Brazos Valley Authority by the City Council when it declined to go further with the Colorado River Authority in its announced plan to buy electric current from that area, brought forth a resolution from the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night, commending the government. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, the Government of the United States through the Congress has made provision for the construction of dams and reservoirs on the Brazos River and tributaries, thus inaugurating a program of flood control that will eventually restore and protect for land owners many thousands of acres of fertile lands in the valleys of these streams, and,

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Cameron, has in its wisdom adopted a policy of co-operation with the Brazos Valley Authority in declining to pledge its support to a competing Authority, thus meeting the wishes of land owners and business men throughout this territory, therefore, be it,

Resolved, that the Chamber of Commerce express its appreciation and commendation of the action of the City Government in its recent vote to cancel an agreement to purchase power from the Colorado Authority which agreement was believed to be prejudicial to the possibilities that are offered in the Brazos Flood control program; that in voting to direct its co-operation with the Brazos River Authority the City Council has recognized the needs of this section and the necessity to give full aid in a program that will bring immeasurable benefits to our city and county; be it further,

Resolved, that the City Council be and is hereby highly commended for its action and that its example of full recognition of one of the major needs of the time be subscribed to by our citizenship us a whole; that we resolve in every way possible to further the program of flood control on the Brazos and streams by assuring those in authority that the magnitude and importance of the project is fully appreciated.

Ernest Eggert attended the session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian U S. held at Meredian, Miss., the past week, and while away will visit his son Gus Eggert in Georgia, and will go to Montread, N. The Directors voted to accept the resignation. Method of electing a new president was under debate as the club adjourned. The by laws provide no way except a parliamentary authority law and this was not at hand.

It was said that the new president will be chosen at the next meeting.

JERSEY SHOW HERE BRINGS MANY AWARDS

Prize Jersey cattle proudly strutted before a huge throng of Milam county people Saturday, and when all was finished, Roy Law's cow and Ed Sniveley's bull had garnered purple grand champion ribbons the highest award given during Milam county's second annual dairy show. A. L. Darnell, Judge of note, and Dairy professor of A & M College, judged the classes and gave a discussion of them.

Grading was so strict that only ten blue ribbons were awarded to the fifty or more exhibits on display. Four bulls owned respectively by Ed Snively, Melvin Ford, Barton Brown and Frank Raley earned blue ribbons, while females owned by Law, Dewell Mitchell, Frank Heitman, C. C. Hill and E. P. Hess, went away with blue ribbons, Mitchell having the honor of winning two on a mature cow and on her young calf.

The Denmark system of judging was followed, therefore, the large number of first awards. The system of judging was popular with the crowd, and the explanations, and dairy talks over the public address system, were praised by the many visitors and exhibitors. G. C. Gibson, A. A. Moore, J. M. Roddy and others made dairy talks throughout the afternoon.

A morning demonstration of butter and cheese making under Gibson and Moore and planned by Dorothy Porter, proved popular with the small group in attendance.

Twenty two boys competed in the judging contest with Walter Anderle, J. A. Rhodes, Garland Follis, Jerome Eickenhorst and Julian Terry finishing in the order named.

The dairy day and show was sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and cash prizes and ribbons were given to all exhibitors of cattle.

Others who showed cattle in either the red or white ribbon classes were: A. I. Ingram, M. H. Hayes, W. H. Lucas, Walter Anderle, Allen Dodson, F. J. Braden, Jerome Eickenhorst, R. A. Devers, Earl McFarland, Albert Crowell, Julian Baskin, Russell Porter, M. A. Baggerly, Tom Smith, L. W. Raley, J. A. Rhodes, Garland Follis, B. C. Caldwell, Joe Segler and Herbert Baggerly.

Mrs. Sam Hefley who has been a patient in a hospital in Houston for several weeks is much improved and returned to her home in Cameron Sunday afternoon. Her many friends were glad to welcome her home.

to read the story.

On a farm near Harrison in Boone County, Arkansas, 64 years ago, his eyes first opened to sunlight on Southern soil. He was rich in the heritage of a distinguished family of Southern Patriots. The family was poor. The Doctor had the normal life of the country boy. He knew all the secrets of the woods, the names of flowers and birds, knew the reassuring beauties of nature, and dreamed as does every boy of the great world beyond the farm gate. He went to school for 6 years in the public schools of Arkansas before he entered Medical College at Memphis, Tennessee.

He worked his way through medical school, graduating and receiving his Medical Degree, with honors, in 1899 at Memphis Hospital Medical College. Among the many degrees which a busy life in the profession later brought him, he never forgot the supreme moment of his life back in the old medical school at Memphis that day they made him a Doctor.

His father was the late Major George W. Newton, a Confederate Soldier under General Price and fought in the memorable Missouri raid which is one of the most spectacular Cavalry campaigns in the annals of military history.

In 1900 Dr. Newton, a young physician and surgeon, moved to Milam County and settled at Buckholts and entered practice. The Newton energy soon manifested itself. He began to plan for the development of his community. He organized and founded the Buckholts State Bank which until this day is still in operation and a testimonial to his business leadership. He also organized the Buckholts Mercantile Company. For a short time he owned and operated a hospital in Buckholts.

In 1913 the Newton energy and spirit of progress, again manifested itself. Realizing the need for a large hospital in Milam county, he moved to Cameron and built the Cameron Hospital which is a three story brick, modern fireproof structure costing about $100,000. On the completion of this hospital in 1914, Dr. Newton entered a partnership with Dr. Eduard Rischar, also a noted surgeon and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. Thus began a life long friendship and a professional partenership that gave Texas one of its most important medical ventures.

Dr. Newton was a member and past President of the Milam County Medical Society; member of the Texas Medical Society; member of the American Medical Association and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

The late Senator inherited a strong Democratic faith and was past Chairman of the Milam County Democratic Executive Committee. For ten years he was a member of the Cameron School Board and served 8 years as Milam County Health Officer.

He lived 38 years in Milam county. They were busy years. He was closely identified with business and farming. He was a widely known sportsman and at one time owned the world's greatest Walker fox hound, Tango. The Literary Digest on one occasion printed a photo of the dog after sensational cup wins in state competition. A pet hobby of the Doctor was his lodge on the River known as Bear Hunters Inn. He loved music and owned a number of fine violins. At the lodge are orchards and grounds spacious enough for a large park. One of his latest plantings, there is a black Arkansas apple tree and a trench of Georgia bamboo.

In religion Dr. Newton was a Baptist and a member of the Baptist Church in Cameron. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World, a Mason and Sons of Herman. A proud possession of his son George Mayo Newton, sent by Masons at Yarrellton shortly after the Doctor's death, is his application for Masonry in the Yarrellton Lodge. The application was written on a note head of Newton and Lyon, Doctors and Druggists in his own wording. It is dated 1902.

In 1906, Dr. Newton, married Miss Matilda Mondrik, daughter of the late Joseph Mondrik, Sr., pioneer settler and farmer of Milam County. His widow, one of the major inspirations of his life, survives. Their love built one of the truly great homes of the land and into it came one of the most charming and interesting families of children the world has known. At the hearth of noble parents they first drew inspiration for the ideals they hold. Six children with their mother, survive as follows: Dr. William R. Newton, Jr., a practicing physician and surgeon in Cameron; George Mayo Newton, member of the Texas House of Representatives; Miss Mary Newton, member of the school faculty in Cameron; Frank Newton, law student in the University of Texas; Miss Josephine Newton, member of the graduating class of Yoe High school this year.

Two sisters survive: Mrs. S. M. Corley of Buckholts and her son, a nephew, Seth Corley, student in Baylor; Mrs. Minnie Bates of Corpus Chrisit.

Mrs. Watt Skinner of Rogers was a guest of her brother, Joe Denson and wife the first of the week.

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.

Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.
